Subject: Timely Instant HR/Payroll: Faculty/Staff Facilitated Conversation on the Presidential Election

The targeted email below is going out to all faculty and staff. Because of the time sensitivity, today's meetings start at 3:00, we also wanted to share it directly with you, for your information.

Faculty/Staff Facilitated Conversation on the Presidential Election

Has the presidential election process created some questions for you? Would you like an opportunity to share your thoughts in an open forum as part of a facilitated conversation hosted by HR & Payroll's Shernita Rochelle Parker and Regina Ryder? If so, please join them this afternoon in Merten 1203. There are two sessions from which to choose – one at 3:00 and the other at 4:00. No need to register; please stop by. Please share this message with colleagues.

Please note: Faculty/Staff sessions will also be scheduled for the Arlington and SciTech campuses to be held tomorrow. Details to follow once confirmed.

Today and tomorrow, Provost Wu will host meetings for faculty to get together to exchange ideas and to discuss potential issues or concerns in the classroom setting in the coming days and weeks. Our discussion will build on the values and mission of George Mason University: our students come first, diversity is our strength, we honor freedom of thought and expression, and we thrive together. Faculty sessions with the Provost will take place today: 3:00-4:00 in HUB 1 and 2; and tomorrow: 3:00-4:00 in Dewberry South. Women and Gender Studies faculty will host sessions from 2:00-3:00 and 4:00-5:00 in Dewberry Hall South tomorrow afternoon to continue the discussion.

S. David Wu
Provost and Executive Vice President

Linda H. Harber
Vice President, Human Resources, Payroll, and Faculty/Staff Life
