Supplemental Pay Procedures

These definitions and procedures will assist units in selecting the appropriate type of pay transaction and position number for activities outside of the contracted duties specified in offer letters. These payments are in addition to base pay, varying in length depending on the activity, and require the employee to have a salaried or wage position. Limitations on the amount of supplemental pay are defined by the employee category and the session of the academic year. The sessions of the academic calendar are defined as regular session (August 25 – May 24) and summer session (May 25 – August 24).

Due to Commonwealth of Virginia regulations, Faculty on academic year contracts are eligible for supplemental pay in the summer session up to a maximum of 33.33% of the academic year salary and the amount of salary paid per pay period during the summer cannot exceed the academic year per pay period rate. Payments during the regular session that exceed 15% of the academic year salary will need additional justification included with the request. Ongoing requests above 15% will necessitate a contract revision.

All funds from sponsored grants/awards must have pre-approval from the Office of Sponsored Programs. In order to process supplemental pay you must satisfy all bullets associated with the type of pay. All exceptions must be approved by the Provost or Senior Vice President.

Salary increases for benefited faculty and classified staff must follow the Quarterly Out-of-Cycle Review Procedures.
